

Take care of the Pig.
The hog is universal. Wherever civilized man goes, he goes, and in some cases at least he is as civilized as man. His tender flesh may be too rich for poets and dyspeptics, but severe physical labor, especially in the open air, may be better sustained on a pork diet than on any other meat.
The hog is not more prone to disease than other animals. Sickness comes to him only because his protector, man, does not understand his requirements and delicate constitution. Much of what is called swine cholera, for instance, is the result of feeding him nothing but corn diet. Corn and hog cholera go together. This valuable article of food is fattening, but it is also heating and constipating. It will not produce muscle. Every swine raiser knows that it is disastrous to feed brood sows on corn alone.
No. The pig must have variety of food as well as man. Roots, wheat middlings and bran and clover hay are among the best foods to mix with the corn. Nothing can be better than turnips boiled and fed with bran or with the clover hay. The hay, too, is boiled previous to feeding by some of the best swine raisers. The turnips can be grown upon ground from which early potatoes have been dug, and thus the soil twice utilized. Potatoes too small for use by man, the pig will be thankful for and eat gladly, at once making juicy pork steaks for his owner and saving what would otherwise be a dead loss and waste. Potatoes are a valuable food for swine. A writer in the Agriculturalist says that he has fed his hogs in addition to the articles above mentioned about 800 bushels of apples, which he bought mostly for them—for dessert as it were. The animals thrived abundantly on the fruit. Here, too, is a saving, for apples too small and knobby for marketing may be saved at slight expense and gathered to give variety to the winter's feed of hogs. It is enough to feed the corn plentifully when it is wanted to lay on fat at marketing time. Then, too, the corn should be shelled and fed from a decent, stationary trough, and not thrown at random into a muck of filth and mud. A hog treated in such a hasty way will become diseased and the infallible.
Much attention is being paid to hog breeding at present, and those who are giving it are being repaid tenfold. The Poland China is one of the best general breeds in the country. The improved large Yorkshire has also been found most desirable, especially when crossed with the Berkshire or Cheshire white.
A Puzzled Dutchman Made Glad.
A Dutchman once heard a sermon by a preacher who did not believe in immersion for baptism. In his discourse he attempted to explain the preposition "into" as setting that it meant simply going down to or near the water, and being sprinkled. At the close of this very labored discourse, the preacher gave an opportunity for any present to express their thoughts on the subject. The Dutchman accepted the invitation, and remarked as follows:
"Mr. Breacher, I ish so glad I vash here to-night, for I has had explained to my mind something dat I never could believe before.
Oh, I ish so glad dat into does not mean into at all, but slust close by or near to, for now I can believe manish things vot I could not understand before. We reat, Mr. Breacher, dat Taniel was cast into the ten of lions and came out alive! Now, I never could understand dat, for the wild beasts would eat him up right off; but now it ish very clear to my mind. He was slust close by or near to and not gointo de ten all. Oh, I ish so glad I vash here to-night. Again we reat de Hebrew children were cast into the firsh furnace, and dat alwash lookt like a peeg story, too, for I fluk dey would have been jurnt up; but it ish all blain to my mind now, for dey was slust close by or near to de firsh furnace, oh, I ish so glad I vash here to-night.
"And now, Mr. Breacher, if you will slust explain two more pashages of Scripture, I shall pe oh so happy I vash here to-night! One of dem is vere it saish, de vicked shall pe cast into a lake dat punis mit fire and brimstone alwash.—Oh, Mr. Breacher, shall I be cast into dat lake, if I am vicked, or slust close by or near enough to be comfortable? I hopes you vill say I shall be cast slust by a good way off, and I vill be so glad I vash here to-night! De oder pashage is dat rich vish plessed are dey who obey dese commendments, dat dey may have a right to de tree of life, and enters in through the gates into de city. Oh, tell me I shall get into de city, and not close by or near to, slust near enough to see what I have lost, and I shall pe so glad I vash here to-night!"
Almost a Native.
"Are you a native of the state?" asked the judge of the United States court, addressing a fat man who had been summoned to testify in a case of illicit distilling.
"Mostly, Judge."
"I mean, were you born in this state?"
"I understand. I wasn't born here, but I am mighty nigh a native."
"Come here when you were quite young, I suppose?"
"No, sir; an't here but about ten year."
"How old are you?"
"Fifty."
"Then how is it that you are very nearly a native of the state?"
"Well, when I come here I only weighed about a hundred pounds. Now I weigh two forty; so you see, 140 pounds of me are native, while only 100 pounds came from Missouri."
